Devout Hosts to Hail Great Series of Union Devotionals Festival at Sunrise Services Conclude on Good Friday

Part of the hosts that will travel thru the darkness thruout the land to gather on hilltop, park, valley and canyon and there greet the Easter dawn with stirring tributes to their Redeemer, hundreds of Torrance, Lomita, Harbor City and Waveria folk will attend sunrise services next Sunday morning.

There will be two such dawn devotionals—at the Torrance city park beginning at 5:40 a. m., and on the Palos Verdes hills south of Lomita starting at 5:30 a. m. in this area and another at Roosevelt Memorial park off Normandie and Vermont avenues at about the same time.

Rev. C. M. Northrup will preside at the Torrance city park service, which will be under the auspices of the Torrance Ministerial Association. Rev. E. W. Matz is to give the Scripture reading, Rev. Frank T. Porter will offer the prayer and Rev. Harry G. Banks will be the principal speaker. The Melody Messengers will greet the Easter dawn with song. This quartet is composed of George McDougall, Ray White, Leland Pisel and Howard Foster.

Other Sunrise Programs At the Palos Verdes hills service Dawson Trotman will be the speaker with several other pastors of the community assisting. There will be music by combined choirs of the Lomita churches and a group of musicians from the Navigators' Club in Long Beach will accompany Trotman to assist with the program.

Sea-side sunrise services at Long Beach on Easter morning at 5:30 a. m., will have a setting of unsurpassed beauty. Worshippers will see the sun rise over the waters of the blue Pacific, and a great cross, electrically illuminated, will send its glow across Rainbow Lagoon.

Union pre-Easter services are being held in Torrance as this city's recognition of the death and resurrection of the Redeemer. Never before has such community expressions of devotion been planned for Torrance and the remaining services will undoubtedly be even better attended than the Tuesday and Wednesday gatherings.

Store Posters Urge Church Attendance

In the interest of making for closer cooperation between business men and the community's churches, the principal retail stores of this community are featuring special posters and displays urging the public to attend church services on Easter Sunday.

The idea for this cooperative gesture originated with a group of the city's store managers who presented the idea to leading ministers to first determine whether or not such a plan was acceptable, before putting it into execution. Commencing on the program today, local retailers said this method was resorted to since they wished to definitely avoid suggesting any program which would border on commercialization of the sacred day.

It was stated, however, that church leaders were emphatic in their opinion that such a program is to be commended and is in keeping with efforts of the churches themselves to bring a greater number of the community's residents into places of worship.

Tonight a union communion service will be held, starting at 7:30 o'clock in the Central Evangelical church whose pastor, Rev. E. W. Matz, will preside. The music will be given by the Melody quartet, composed of C. Pisel, R. Hogue, K. Fasnacht and F. Lemming. Rev. C. M. Northrup of the Baptist church will give the Communion Message.

A three-hour Good Friday union service will be held at the Central Evangelical church from 12 o'clock noon to 3 p. m. Worshipers are invited to attend all or part of the devotionals. The order of service will consist of music and meditation periods.

Deep Interest Shown "The Seven Last Words From the Cross" will be used as topics by the participating ministers as follows: "Today Thou Shalt Be With Me In Paradise," Rev. Harry G. Banks of the Methodist church; "Father Forgive Them for they Know Not What they Do," Rev. Thomas R. Marshall of (Continued on Page 5-A)
